

COPPINS COMMUNITY FOOD FOREST

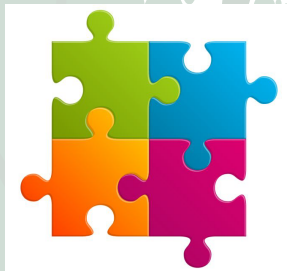

Working with nature and each other to cultivate connection, ideas and health through growing food.

The Coppins Community Food Forest works in partnership with The Church on the Roundabout who have taken over responsibility for the upkeep of Barton Green from the Isle of Wight Council. Barton Green will continue to be maintained as a community green space - but with a difference.

Connection

To build links within the local community over the common themes of food, sustainability and health.

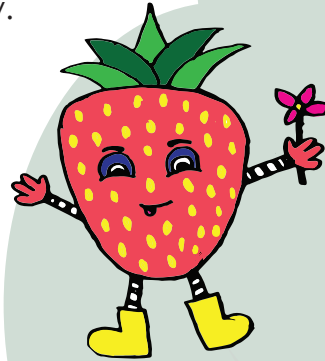

Giving

To work with the Isle of Wight Foodbank by supplementing food stocks for those in crisis with fresh, homegrown produce.

Ideas

To promote and develop opportunities for growing and sharing seasonal, healthy, sustainably grown food for the whole community.

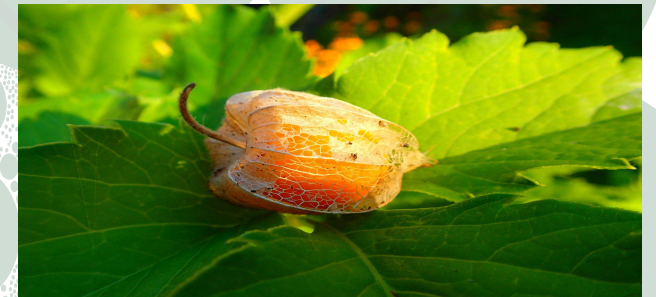

Skills

To develop whole community skills in growing and cooking local produce and to learn how we can all benefit from using permaculture principles.

Growth

To promote the environmental, health and social benefits of community growing schemes and changing the way we use community green spaces.

Respect

For each other and nature
Embodying the Permaculture ethics of Earth Care, People Care and Fair Share in all we do.
